William Overton of Cambridge, draper, made 12 March, 1646-7; proved 12 August 1647. I bequeath my soul unto Almighty God, not doubting but that when God shall seperate my soul from my body, my soul shall be conveyed into the bosom of my Saviour; although the worms shall eat this body, yet with these eyes I shall behold my Saviour, and sing praises with the holy saints and angels to God Almighty and my Saviour Jesus Christ. I bequeath unto Mary my wife, whom I make my sole executrix, all my goods and chattels whatsoever, for payment of my debts, and what shall remain over and above I bequeath to her. If my moveables shall not be sufficient to pay my debts and legacies, I will that the lease I hold of the mayor, bailiffs, and burgesses of Cambridge of certain tenements there shall be sold by my executrix towards payment of the same; and if need be, the lease of the house where I now dwell, holden of St. John's College in Cambridge. And I desire that my wife shall bestow upon some of my friends and kindred such legacies for remembrance of me as she shall think fitting. And whereas there is in Dr. Thomas Paske his hands about the sum of £100, which he received of my sister Margaret, late wife of Mr. John Paske, late of Cambridge, late deceased, I will my executrix shall do her utmost endeavour to obtain the same out of his hands, it being due to me; and when the same shalbe recovered, I will that John Paske, Thomas Paske, Robert Paske, William Paske and Henry
